At the Tyler Clementi Foundation, we believe that achieving our goal of creating more compassionate schools should be led by ambitious, talented, and compassionate youth across the country. That is why we started our Youth Ambassador Program: to highlight young leaders across America who are working to end all forms of bullying by developing change-making campaigns, organizing fundraisers, and leading activities, on and offline, to help prevent bullying.

#UPSTANDER NEWS: You Helped us Reach 735,000 Upstanders!

As of March 1, we have proudly helped 735,000 #Upstanders take a public stance against bullying. Our October goal of reaching one million #Upstanders will happen if you continue to share our #Upstander pledge with your community on Facebook, Instagram, Twitter and email. This fall, we will commemorate the tenth anniversary of Tyler's death. We are so thankful that you, our Upstanders, who do the right thing every day by standing up to bullying, harassment, and intimidation. Together, we can end bullying in all its forms.

Warmly,
