

According to the CDC's first national survey of high school students, 1 in 4 teenagers who identified as LGBTQ+ said they attempted suicide during the first half of 2021. The study also revealed that almost half (46.8%) of teenagers who said they are lesbian, gay, or bisexual seriously considered a suicide attempt during that same time frame.

It is without a doubt that the pandemic has taken a toll on the mental health of our youth across the country. To make learning environments more safe and inclusive of differences - we ask you to ACT NOW!

Bringing programs like #Day1, an innovative campaign rooted in research to end bullying before it starts, to more geographies - can create social change and life-saving results.

Our programs are 100% online and free of charge. By donating today, you are helping our team bring social-emotional learning curriculum to more schools across the nation.

Your support, no matter the amount, will have an impact!
